SAFETY AND SECURITY

About thirty years ago, when I did not have a full-time parish assignment, I spent much of the summer traveling to cities and towns where the Servite Friars had been invited to give the annual mission appeal on behalf of our Servite missions in Kwa-Zulu Natal, South Africa. Often the pastor would use the mission appeal weekend as an opportunity to take vacation time. In one small town in Iowa, the absent pastor had left a note on the dining room table in the rectory, “Please don’t lock the door. I don’t know where the key is.” This harkens back to a time when many people left their front door unlocked. Many Catholic churches were open all day long without any concern about safety or security. Unfortunately that is not Chicago in 2026. Our neighbor churches of St. Peter and Holy Name Cathedral do remain open all day, but with professional security guards on duty. The attack on a Catholic church in Minneapolis during an all-school Mass awakened everyone to the very real possibility that a mass shooting could happen anywhere, including our own worship space.

In response to this general concern, the Archdiocese of Chicago scheduled a series of presentations on Security and Preparedness Training. About 30 of us attended one of these sessions on January 14 at St. Stanislaus. In the first part of the meeting, Kaitlyn Weitzel, Director of Security for the Archdiocese, offered practical suggestions about security for church properties. Based on her recommendations, we are doing well in certain areas. We do have security cameras inside as well as outside our property (although they are not always monitored), and we do have two levels of security to enter the parish office/rectory (A visitor must be “buzzed in” twice). To enter the church when the doors are locked, the visitor (visible on security camera) must also be buzzed in. She spoke about a “security film” that holds glass together when someone tries to break through glass doors—something worth looking into.

Our biggest security deficit is not having a regular team of ushers or greeters at every weekend Mass, who remain at least close to the back of church throughout Mass and can intercept someone who enters the building who may be having mental problems or who is not otherwise intent on worship. Kaitlyn calls this initiating the hello (as in “Hello. How can I help you?”). We need to renew our efforts in this area, not only from the point of being secure but also for being welcoming. Some Masses have coverage. Others do not. The other point that Kaitlyn made is that all of us need to be attentive of suspicious activity on our church property. Who is walking around, checking doors, taking pictures of entryways, etc.? She also emphasized the importance of reporting incidents to the Archdiocese as well as to the police (if applicable). Just as break-ins at businesses in a particular area sometimes follow a pattern, so too do break-ins at churches. Do not hold open a secure door for someone you do not recognize. We also need to develop a safety plan, which would cover not only criminal activity but also what to do in case of fire or smoke or other catastrophe that would require us to evacuate the building quickly.

In the second part of the program, a representative of the Department of Homeland Security focused specifically on active shooters like the one in Minnesota. He defined a mass shooting as an effort to kill as many people as possible at random. This is distinguished from gang killings and domestic disputes that may involve multiple fatalities but are aimed at specific individuals. By this definition, mass shootings are extremely rare, but come with tremendous consequences. While the same safety measures apply to mass shooters as to someone breaking into a donation box, the key is getting help to the individual prior to the attack. Most mass shooters do not just “snap”; they have put in considerable time researching and developing their plan and often “leak” their intentions. They have been building a grievance against society for a long time and do not have common coping skills. The only way to overcome a grievance is massive retaliation. He asked us to pay attention to coworkers or family members whose behavior, moods, or interactions have changed. The other point that he made was how to react to a mass shooting. The key response is “Don’t freeze.” Based on circumstances, either run, hide, or fight.

This is all sobering stuff to consider only one month after the birthday of the Prince of Peace. It is a sad reminder of how far we are from God’s vision for our world and the vast social, economic, mental health, and spiritual needs in our country. It is also a reminder that we have a role to play, not just in protecting ourselves, but in offering Christ’s light to the world.

Fr. Joe

AN INVITATION TO THE MINISTRY FAIR

Assumption needs your gifts and talents in our various ministries to enliven our parish and enrich our local community. Perhaps you enjoyed a program or event like our pop-up garden party. Perhaps you were greeted at Mass. We could use more of that. Perhaps you have been thinking about offering your services as a lector or an extraordinary minister of the Eucharist. We could use more of those. We are looking for hosts and hostesses, people to help with Alpha, organize young adult events, lead a Bible study, set up food. Maybe you would like to serve the needy and the unhoused. There are many opportunities for service at Assumption. Perhaps you have new ideas. St. Paul tells us that all of us placing our gifts at the service of the community is what makes the church work. We welcome all, whatever your availability and your passion. Come to the Ministry Fair in the Parish Hall after all Masses February 14-15. Valentine's Day cookies provided.

ANNUAL CATHOLIC APPEAL

Many households in our parish will receive or have already received the Annual Catholic Appeal mailing from Cardinal Cupich. Please respond as soon as possible. On behalf of all the schools, parishes, and ministries in the Archdiocese of Chicago that receive funding from the Appeal, we thank you for your gifts. In addition to funding many essential services of the Catholic Church, the Annual Catholic Appeal also serves as an important source of funding for Assumption. The theme of this year's appeal is "Together We Bring Light." As we consider God's many gifts to us, we should also express our gratitude by sharing these gifts. Your financial support for the work of the parish, the Archdiocese, and the Church throughout the world is one concrete way to express your gratitude.

PRAY WITH THE POPE

Throughout 2026 Pope Leo will share a monthly prayer intention through both audio and video, inviting the universal church and all people of good will to unite spiritually using the same prayer. For more information go to popesprayer.va.

CHILD CARE MINISTRY: Several people have asked about reviving the child care ministry during one of the Sunday Masses. This would be for children aged 18 months through four years and would require a team of volunteers (some of whom might also be the parents of the children). If you are interested in being part of this ministry, please contact the parish office.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS: In light of expanded Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) operations in Chicago, it is important to know that, regardless of one's immigration status, all people are entitled to certain rights by the Constitution. If approached by an ICE agent, you have the right to remain silent and you do not have to sign any papers. If you are not being arrested or detained, you may walk away. ICE agents cannot search you or your home without your consent or a search warrant signed by a judge. You have the right to speak to an attorney and to have your lawyer with you at any hearing before an immigration judge.

THE CATECHISM FOR ADULTS: Are you interested in learning more about your Catholic faith and how the Church guides us to live out this faith? Then you should consider being part of Deacon Kevin's next Adult Catechism group slated to begin Wednesday evening January 21. Using the foundational text, United States Catholic Catechism for Adults, past participants have included long-time parishioners, those who recently completed the OCIA process, and anyone curious about exploring their Catholic faith in greater detail. Members support each other and grow in community as they grow in knowledge and understanding. Contact Deacon Kevin Zajdel at assumptiondeacon@gmail.com for info.
